Book Committee of the State Board of Education, which is composed of Gov.
Pardee, Superintendent of Public Instruction T. J. Kirk and Prof. E. E.
Brown of the University of California, held a meeting this afternoon. It was decided that before accepting any

the committee should be satisfied that the text should be read by an examiner appointed by the committee. It was thought the committee should select new geography for the public schools today, but Superintendent Kirk stated
it was doubtful if any such action would be taken.

Agains Working Ten Hours.

one thousand men in the Northern Pacific shops in Tacoma have begun working ten hours per day again. The usual demanding immediate attention compels a return to ten hours. It means an increase of about $1000 per month in the pay roll.

before they could get out of the building,
and the proprietor of the place had one of his hands badly cut by smashing out a window out of which he crawled and leaped to the ground to escape the sailors. Nearly all of the lodgers of the house lost all their clothing.

congratulate you on the wonderful strides you are making in improving the artistic character of this most extraordinary invention."

such a testimonial from this source. The world is

Mayor Harrison Unable to

Rioting Strikers Attack Cars and

Company Will Insist Upon an Open Shop—Halsted-street
Line is Opened.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Despite the united efforts today of Mayor Harrison and the Aldermanic Mediation Committee to bring about a peaceable adjustment of the Chicago City Railway strike, there is little chance in the situation tonight. After an all-day session of the board of directors of the company, at which the proposal submitted by the strikers to Mayor Harrison, stating the terms on which they would settle, was considered, a counter proposal was prepared by the officers of the railway company and sent to the Mayor tonight. As soon as the document was received at the City Hall
the Executive Committee of the strike-ers' union was sent for, but as only half the members of the committee put in an appearance, no action can be taken on the answer of the company until tomorrow.

A serious riot occurred tonight at Thirty-eighth street and Wentworth avenue. The trouble began when a wrecking wagon manned by a non-union crew and guarded by six specially selected police officers, passed thirty-eighth street and went on Wentworth avenue. A crowd quickly gathered and followed it. When the wrecking wagon came to a stop on Wentworth avenue, a mob of thirty-eight strikers, carrying clubs and stones, came up. The crowd threatened to destroy and then offered violence to the men. Then the wrecking wagon was forced to pass between the wagon and cars, carrying the officers had left thirty-eighth street, two cars came up on the opposite direction. As they were crossing thirty-eighth street the mob let fly a shower of stones, demolishing the car windows and causing the men to jump out of the cars. The mob then on the first car to flee. The mob then swarmed on the cars and had begun to beat the train when two cars came up after the wagon and cars.
The wrecking wagon came hurrying back. The mob, which had greatly increased by this time, was in an angry mood and refused to move. The police drew their revolvers and clubs and charged. The mob used stones and clubs, while the police swung their clubs with vigor. There was a warm fight, which lasted about five minutes, and then the mob broke and fled in all directions. A number of those engaged in the rioting were taken into custody. The demand for a sympathetic strike to aid the former employees of the Chicago City Railway Company was refused tonight at a meeting of the members of the Union employees on all the lines running through the north section of the city. Instead of taking such summary action the north side men decided to give their striking colleagues a moral support. The vote was 200 to 100 in favor of the strike.
WILL NOT ARBITRATE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—All efforts of the Mayor to secure the arbitration differences between the Chicago City Railway and its striking employees have failed.

This announcement was made today,
following a series of conferences between Mayor Harrison and his Mediation Committee of Aldermen and committees representing the company and the strikers. It was stated that today's meetings developed no common meeting ground for the opposing sides,
and that for the present there is no sign of an amicable settlement.

A meeting of the executive council of the strikers' union was held tonight. The council decided to refuse to accept the offer of the company to arbitrate the differences between the company and the strikers.

The council also decided to refuse to accept the offer of the company to arbitrate the differences between the company and the strikers.

HALSTED-STREET LINE OPEN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The tie-up on the Halsted-street line of the Chicago City Railway Company was broken today by placing in commission five cars. This is the fourth line to be opened. Limited service in Wentworth, Cottage Grove and Indiana avenues was maintained today with little trouble. Police details accompanied the cars.

all, in giving the House the right to express its will. The appeal was tabled by strict party vote.

The debate began Monday was continued to within a few minutes of 4 o'clock, the time appointed to take a vote on the final passage of the bill. Mr. Williams closed the debate for the House side, and made an arrangement of the Republican policy of protection. Mr. McCall (Rep.) of Massachusetts made the closing speech on the Republican side. The announcement of the passage of the bill caused only a slight demonstration.

Mr. McCall, Mayor-elect of New York, occupied the Speaker's chair while today as chairman of the committee of the whole.

EXTRA SESSION.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—SENATE.—The Senate transacted no business in open session today beyond the receipt of bills and petitions. After an expenditure of the Senate adjourned. HOUSE.—The vote which was to have been taken in the House at 4 o'clock on the Cuban bill was delayed by a roll call on an appeal by Mr. Williams from a decision of Speaker Cannon.

Mr. Broward (Dem.) of Louisiana opened the debate today, when the House resumed consideration of the Cuban bill. He opposed the measure, and said it was not in line with Democratic tariff reform.

Mr. Hepburn (Rep.) of Iowa, followed, stating at the outset of his remarks that he would vote for the bill, but with reluctance. He said he was not one of those who believed we owed Cuba anything. This country had spent $200,000,000 or $300,000,000 and secured nothing in return. Cuba might be relieved from oppression. Mr. Hepburn said he believed in Republican reciprocity, the reciprocity of McKinley.

In this connection, he quoted

MONEY MAKES BILLS RUN UP A RECORD.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The new record which Senator Money of Mississippi made this week by introducing 23 bills in one day calls attention to the increase in bulk of proposed legislation of late years. The largest number of bills previously introduced in one day was 100 by Senator Plumb of Kansas.

In the Fifty-first Congress, when Thomas B. Reed first held the Speakership, 119 bills were introduced during the House session, which was not again equaled in either House for three Congresses. Two years later, in the Fifty-second Congress, the bills introduced in the Senate were fewer by 125 and in the House by 240. In the Fifty-third Congress, the falling-off was 100 in the Senate and 188 in the House, bringing the bills to the lowest figures in ten years. The smaller number of private pension bills and the general story character of these measures, discouraging offering of bills purely for "bluff," probably had much to do with the decrease.

The introduction of bills in the House has been much facilitated by the present rules, which permit a member merely to deposit his bill in a box provided for the purpose, without taking up any of the time of the House. Formerly, the procedure in the House was a roll call by States, each member sending to the clerk's desk the bills he wished to offer, which were read by title. With a membership of 385, the

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The frigid wave has gone on East, and the temperature Chicago and all the Middle West is rising. The minimum here this morning was 14 degs. at 1 a.m., and the maximum at 2 o'clock p.m. was 28. A further rise of the mercury is promised for tomorrow, but is expected to bring unsettled weather. It is still cold in the Dakotas, and more is reported in the northern lake region.

MISS SCHULTZ WEDS. Of interest in Chicago and New York society was the wedding at New York this evening of Miss Elsie Schultz, daughter of Carl H. Schultz, New York and Murray Hill, to Ward Ashmun Vilas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal C. Vilas of Chicago.

LETTER-WRITER CRAZY. Mary Sullivan, 41 years old, who, secret service detectives say, has been annoying the President with threatening letters, was declared insane before Judge Pond today. She came from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and was an inmate of the Home for the Friendless.

TURKEYS SCARCE. Turkeys are getting scarce in South Water street, and prices are flying high. Dealers say indications point to higher prices than a year ago, when the wholesale price for the Thanksgiving bird was 25 cents a pound.

BILL TO LOWER TUNNELS. A Washington dispatch says that Congressmen Mann today reintroduced his bill to compel the lowering of all tunnels under the Chicago River, now imposing a penalty of $10,000 on the city for every month it delays after a time limit fixed by the War Department.

DOWIE'S UNPAID BILLS. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) WAUKESHA, (Ill.) Nov. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Dowie has been sued by Hart, Schaffner & Marx of Chicago for $5000 for clothing furnished to the general stores at 2301 Olney. F. G. Hart, well & Company have sued him for $500 and the J. W. Butler Paper Company for $700. Several other suits started here have been settled.

AFTER MILWAUKEE BOODLERS. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) MILWAUKEE, (Wis.) Nov. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) A special grand

from the speech made by the late President at Buffalo. Mr. Hepburn declared that there was nothing in the Buffalo speech that differed one iota from the stable, established policy of the Republican party; there was absolutely nothing in the new-born republic of Panama you would have it back here in three days. "The heads of all the mighty cars in another place have not operated on this Panama business yet, and they have operated on this treaty," said Mr. Payne.

"They will operate in some way or another," said Mr. Williams, "providing the trust is not hurt. They are waiting for us."

Just before 4 o'clock, Mr. Payne of New York said he did not care to talk further, and Mr. Williams moved to recommit the bill to the Ways and Means Committee, with instructions in the line of amendments previously proposed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Mr. Sulzer (Dem.) of New York said he would vote for the bill, as it was a little step in the right direction.

Mr. Watson (Rep.) of Indiana, one of the new members on the Ways and Means Committee, favored the bill.

Mr. Williams (Dem.) of Mississippi, leader of the minority, answering a statement on the Republican side that the Democrats forced the talk on this bill, said he had offered to have a vote on the bill without debate. Replying to Mr. Watson, Mr. Williams said: "Protection is a system of taxation whereby many are robbed in order that a few may be bloated by legislation into artificial prosperity."

Mr. Williams charged that the Republicans did not desire to enter upon the tariff revision, for fear it would open the doors to too potent a revolution. The Republicans had a majority in the House and Senate, and a very large majority in the House of Representatives. The pledges of prosperity of the majority were already collapsing. Mr. Payne replied: "The gentleman is trying to help the sugar trust by his amendment. He knows I am an unconscious of it. But I would say the length it would take would depend upon the care and strenuous brought into action at the other end of the Avenue. If you could just half-way approximate the certainty that has lately actuated this Administration in connection with the new-born republic of Panama, you would have it back here in three days.

BUSINESS.

The week ended yesterday may claim the proud distinction of being the banner week in the history of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse, for the daily clearing aggregated a little less than $7,000,000, an increase of 26 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year.

For the same week in 1921 the clearings were only $5,500,000. Yesterday's clearings were over $1,000,000.

Considerable realizing by locals in the Chicago wheat pit was followed by covering by shorts, and the net result at the close was 79 3/4 for December option. The most active stock on the market was United States Steel preferred, and the late strength of that stock saved the market from any reaction caused by profit-taking on the part of traders and made the closing strong and quite active.

C-O-OPERATION IS NEEDED.

The action taken by the Mayor, in inviting such public bodies as the Chamber of Commerce, the Municipal League, and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association to collaborate with him and the Chief of Police in the solution of the abnormally recurring hobo problem, was decidedly a step in the right direction. By reason of its equitable climate and central location, Los Angeles is confronted, each winter, with a vast influx of undesirable tourists, as well as of undesirable hobo. The latter are always welcome, but how to meet the problem presented by the former is a question which has heretofore been found very difficult to answer. That the Mayor's wise initiative will lead to a practical solution of the difficult problem is the hope of every good citizen.

The difficulties of the situation are much greater than the ordinary municipality is called upon to contend with. The hobo tourist, as well as the respectable and honest tourist, feed from the rigors of the eastern winter. With the coming of each winter, a vast number of criminally disposed persons come to Los Angeles, and the inevitable result is a great increase of crime. It is not reasonable to expect the police department to meet this extraordinary condition so completely as it copes with ordinary conditions, unless the department be supplied with extraordinary equipment and facilities. If 500 special police officers could be added to the force each winter, there would be some too many officers for the adequate performance of the extra and unusual work thrown upon the police department during that portion of the year. So large an increase of the police force during the winter months is of course out of the question in the present condition of the city finances. Inasmuch as we cannot do what we should like to do, and what the exigencies of the situation really require, we must perforce do the best we can. The Mayor has therefore taken wise action in calling together some of our representative citizens for consultation as to what is the best course to pursue.

One thing, at least, is clear. There should be, and there must be, cooperation on the part of right-thinking citizens in the solution of this problem. If the problem is to be solved at all (and it must be solved), it will not do to pull in different directions in a matter which so vitally concerns the welfare of Los Angeles and the security of its people. The Mayor and the Chief of Police should have the moral support of the great body of citizens in their efforts to enforce the laws and to put down lawlessness of every kind. They should have not only the moral support of citizens, but the material support, to an extent that may be necessary to insure the most efficient performance of their duties.

Unjust and reckless criticism of the police department and its officers, on the part of citizens or newspapers claiming respectability, is a strong encouragement to crime. One of its evil effects is to bring criminally inclined persons to Los Angeles, under the mistaken idea that the police authorities of the city are inefficient, and that therefore they can ply their evil calling with comparative immunity from arrest. The ill-considered attacks made upon Chief Elton, not so long ago (which were inspired wholly by personal spite), were a conspicuous invitation to the criminal classes of all lands to come to Los Angeles, and no doubt there will be many acceptances of the invitation during the coming winter, thus rendering the situation much worse than it would otherwise have been.

The simple truth of the matter is that Los Angeles has one of the most efficient police forces to be found in the country, headed by a chief who has few equals as a man fitted for the peculiar and exacting duties of his position. None have been better than the malevolent individuals who, to vent their petty personal spleen, have done their best, in their small and futile way, to injure the character and impair the usefulness of Chief Elton. That these petty efforts failed utterly of their object is fortunate for the people of Los Angeles, and unfortunate for our prospective guests of the hobo fraternity.

THE DECAY OF ROMANCE.

Aside from its musical, poetic name, Los Angeles retains many evidences of its Spanish origin. There are numerous ancient habits and customs, like the Feast of the Flowers, to which we still cling tenaciously. Rapid and ruthless though the invasion of the Yankee has been and continues to be, it has not yet succeeded in obliterating all traces of a time when this old pueblo harbored only the children of Castile and Leon and their mission-sheltered Indian progeny. Amid the hurry-burry and rush of modern Americanization something transpires, every now and then, to recall the days that were, like the tinkle of a guitar stealing through the glare of brass bands and the flash of a serape in the crush of claw-hammer coats. Thus do the old and new oftentimes combine.

For instance, yesterday The Times printed a story in which it was said that "Whitey Felipe Verduzco" was drinking in the Montezuma saloon he was mysteriously stabbed. Now, there is a flash of the old fire in a new item of that sort—a something about it that takes one away back to the days of chivalry, with its dreams. Before us, as in a vision, rises the quaint "antifaz" with the heraldry of the Aztec King emblazoned upon its adobe walls. We see Felipe, that soft-sounding name, Felipe—sitting at the table sipping his mead. Then, suddenly, he shrieks and leaps in the air; he has been "mysteriously stabbed." But we can easily guess whose deed it was; we can see the dim form of Felipe's jealous rival, who, in the darkness of the night, would not look, stealing away in the darkness.

So far, so good, but now the reporter heartlessly drags us out from the twilight of dreams into the glare of a common, everyday criminal court. The assailant has been arrested and there is to be no duello on the Plaza, under the mellow moon. We are introduced to the judge, whose name is not very common, and we are told that there is no duello. Under circumstances of this kind there is a jar in that name, it is a shake, an impoverishment, a cold wind from the prairies of Kansas or Iowa blowing in upon the heated air of romance. We are back in plain Angel Town again. The Pueblo de Nuestra Señora la Reina de los Angeles is no more.

Let no one blame us, however, if we would, still cling to the past with its scent of mustard flowers and its songs of love. It is good for the heart to look backward upon the days of old when life was not the fierce conflict that it is now. And what if the caballeros preferred a little harmless slashing with knives for the sake of a woman's smile instead of going into the divorce courts on the basis of the lowest possible alimony?

Another canal treaty has been signed. The American people have hopes that there is now a contract in existence that will stick. It has been a long and weary wait for the construction of a waterway between the great oceans which was never more seriously needed than at this time, when the transcontinental railroads are so gutted with business that consignments may get through next week, or next month, or any other old time. It appears clear that the country is growing even more rapidly than the construction of railroads and that there must be better transportation facilities between distant sections, as well as between those closely together. The rocky road is being cleared and it is joy alive to know that the outlook is brilliant for the commencement of dredging on the greatest work yet undertaken on a continent that is starved with great works. Let matters with reference to the canal be rushed, and the more speed the better.

Colorado hasn't called out the National Guard yet, but has requested the government to send troops to a strike-infested district. Until Colorado's militia has shown that it is unable to cope with the situation in all its dips, spurs and angles the Federal troops will remain on their reservations. The administration's course in this matter is based upon sound wisdom, for to send the government's troops into a State before the State soldiery has had try on the firing line would subject the President to a fusillade of criticism from an element in the community which is ever on the hunt for trouble. Colorado will find the part of economy to preserve her own peace without calling upon the rest of us to assist in footing the bills. And we have no doubt she can turn the trick.

Mrs. Nation gave Washington quite the liveliest sensation yesterday that the capital city has known since the army went over there and tried on the army. Yet it cannot be denied that what she says about the saloons is the truth of gospel. Mrs. Nation's methods may be bizarre and indiscreet, as well as non-effective, but when one stops to consider the tremendous evils wrought upon the world by drink he must acknowledge that it is even better for a Mrs. Nation to knock the "joints" than that they be not knocked at all. At the same time we submit that Carrie oughtn't to make a holy show of herself in the White House and that there would be more sympathy for her and her cause were it not so clearly apparent that she is working a more or less modest gain in the name of temperance. And that is the pity of it. The cause is too sacred to be made a means of graft by mountebanks.

When the Colombian government learns that other of her departments have the accession fever she may take it all back about Uncle Sam's having connived at the recent rebellion in Panama. In any event, it looks as if she were likely to lose some more of her provinces instead of being successful in wheedling the Panamanians to return to the Colombian fold. All of which the United States greatly regrets, of course, but about which she fancies all her feel and enough to cry, considering the unlikely things that have been said about us.

The Chicago strike is showing a few more ramifications, but there are also more cars running from day to day. In fact, there are enough lines running out of the pork and beans metropolis to wait the residents thereof for a goodly number of miles, where there are neither cold feet nor any strikes that amount to much. Just why anybody who has the price of a ticket to California should remain in Chicago when there is a strike on must ever remain a mystery. Or at any other time, for that matter.

Out here in glorious and sunny California the girls are wearing short waists of the peek-a-boo pattern, but in Iowa a man has been frozen to death and the blizzard is still blowing across the prairies, where the summer-dormant tornado sweeps in glee. The moral is so plain that he who runs an automobile a mile a minute may understand it.

Parson Davis calls upon his followers to sell all that they have and invest it in Zion City. This is but another of the many schemes which the son of man has devised to lead his followers to ruin. The son of man is a fraud, and his followers are fools. The son of man is a fraud, and his followers are fools. The son of man is a fraud, and his followers are fools.

The United States Attorney in Nebraska had a call down from Attorney-General Knox that was as salty as it was richly deserved. By the way, the success of the Attorney in the office of United States Attorney in Nebraska would be a handy thing to have in the house.

The Japanese newspapers are becoming bellicose again. But those things come around over there in the Far East with about the same regularity as the changes of the moon. In the interim Russia still invests Manchuria, and it looks like a permanent investment.

Oregon will now can some jack rabbits in addition to her preservation in time of the overpluagage of horses. Oregon is a land of plenty, and she is not likely to waste it. She is not likely to waste it. She is not likely to waste it.

The grand jury of this country appear to be almost as jammed with business as the railroads are with loads on sidetracks. All of which speaks well for the occupation of garnering the boulder crop.

If the Moros could be pacified in some way this country would be comparatively peaceful at this time—bar Chicago, of course, which always has a strike, or some other kind of a fight on.

The Casar, in the matter of Manchuria, appears to be able to do more procrastinating about moving, and less actual moving, than any other person of our acquaintance.

The Standard Oil Company is curtailing expenses, and no wonder. Mr. Rockefeller's dividends amount to but a few millions for the fiscal year just passed.

Mr. Bryan has reached England, and yet nothing has tipped up at last accounts. We congratulate the mother country.

Let us hope that we aren't going to get into a fire-hose mess with those blackboards.

THE DEBT OF HONOR.

He owed a "debt of honor." There that debt must be paid: What matter if his children were old clothes and frayed? Must not be smirched, you know—He owed a "debt of honor." His other debts could go.

He owed a "debt of honor." He had been tricked by fate: The cards had come against him—His other debts could wait: The friend from whom he'd borrowed the cards had come against him—His other debts could wait.

He owed a "debt of honor." He must not eat or sleep: Until that debt was settled. He little ones might wait: Because the cold was bitter. Because their feet were bare—He owed a "debt of honor." And that must claim his care.

He owed a "debt of honor." Must wait on, unwarded: For work that he had done: Such debts are never cleared: Among our "debts of honor." They may be lightly passed.

He owed a "debt of honor." And that debt must be paid: His little ones might wait: That very lightly weighed—He faced the world in triumph: He was a "gentleman." He paid his "debt of honor." "Chicago Record-Herald."

THE PLAYHOUSES.

MASON OPERAHOUSE.

"The Storcks" is well named a musical fantasy. It furnishes a satisfactory demonstration that a musical force for fantasy can be written and presented without wearying the auditor with inane and silly horseplay, vulgar "rags," and other cheap trickery such as make many productions of that class a weariness to the flesh and to the understanding.

The book is by Richard Carl and Guy F. Stealy, the lyrics by Mr. Stealy, and the music by Frederic Chapin. These collaborators have given us a production which is excellent in its kind. The lines have many witty quips and turns. The story is well told, of course, there's nothing to it worth calling a consecutive story; yet it is quite enough for the purposes of the play. The music is bright, light, and altogether pleasing.

Mr. Stealy has done some really dainty work. Altogether, the entertainment is a production which is individually and collectively its evident purpose—"to drive dull care away."

It is a story set in a highly creditable manner, both as to scenery and costumes. It is presented by a large and well-trained company, which has taken individual and collective.

The ensemble work is notably strong and effective, in a vocal sense. There are several fine voices, both male and female.

Thomas Cameron is a better tenor than most of the kind. His voice is clear and strong, with plenty of volume in the higher notes. Miss Alma Faulstich is a fine soprano. Her voice is clear and strong, with plenty of volume in the higher notes.

Dr. Wilson, the character of the long hair and evidence of her savage nature. Many a married man considers the wife as only the most trivial among a large number.

When Mr. Bryan boarded the steamer for Europe, the "Don Voyage" that he had intended to make, he was told that the steamer was not sufficiently bolstered to attract the attention of the public.

Columbia is waxing exceedingly weary over the canal matter and is liable to break forth at any moment in a series of outbursts, and give Uncle Sam the roughest kind of a slap on the wrist.

The return of King Edward and King Victor Emanuel hunting pheasants must seem tame and uninteresting to Americans, but it is a relief to the royal couple before breakfast with his regular morning bag of Bulgarians.

Parties desiring something successful in the outside line will well go out this week and meander around the track at Agricultural Park where the chauffeurs are spending their Julebnights against time and everything else they come across.

SAN DIEGO.

BODY FOUND ON RANCH.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT OF THE TIMES: SAN DIEGO, Nov. 19.—Coroner Morgan was called to Escondido today to investigate the death of W. A. Starr, who was found dead on a ranch near the city of Escondido.

The coroner's jury this evening rendered a verdict that Starr's death resulted from a heart attack, caused by excessive drinking. The jury exonerated the landowner.

WOULD JOIN TINGLEY.

John Pressler was disclosed this forenoon from the custody of the officers of the city of Los Angeles. Pressler, who is 60 years of age, labors under the delusion that he must not eat solid foods. For four weeks he has abstained from eating any solid food, and he is now a skeleton of his former self. He thinks that he is destined to become the successor of Mr. Tingley as the head of the city of Los Angeles.

GREEN BEACH.

NEW WINTER VISITORS.

Hotel Green Beach, Nov. 19.—Yesterday's arrivals at the hotel included Mr. and Mrs. James P. Gardner and sons Paul and Ralph, from Chicago. Mr. Gardner is a member of the family and other members of the family have arranged to be here before the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are the most expert golf players at the hotel. They are here for five or six days, and will be here for the winter.

NEW YORK FINANCIERS WILL TAKE ENTIRE PROPOSED MILLION DOLLAR ISSUE AT PAR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(By Pacific Cable.) Messrs. Fisk and Robinson of New York have made a bid to take at par the proposed issue of $100,000,000 4 per cent. Hawaiian territorial bonds. Their offer has been accepted. This issue of Hawaiian bonds is due in fifteen years. The bonds are exempt from all taxation and are authorized to be deposited with the Treasurer of the United States by United States depositaries and fiscal agents, as security for deposits of insurance money.

THE ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

Christopher Holmes, Moon and Miss Alma O. Hendrickson was much discussed yesterday on account of its many unique features. Although Mr. Moon himself gave out the information that the wedding took place Tuesday night, and friends of the bride and groom averred that it occurred so late at night that the witnesses and parson who tied the knot had to be rushed out of bed for the ceremony. Rev. William A. Irwin, who officiated, declared that he did not sleep before it.

of Friendship Between Italy and Great Britain is Pledged.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.
London, Nov. 19.—(By Atlantic cable.) The welcome of King Victor and Queen Helena of Italy
at the gates of Lord Mayor Palace, today, was of a remarkable character. From the moment of their arrival at the Palace, they were met by a large number of officials, who travelling in the royal procession under one long of bright colors, enhanced here by triumphal arches. Each gate was fringed by troops, whose thick masses of people gave the appearance of a great wall, which was crisp and
and itself to the holiday-like atmosphere.

Italy extended to them and for the address of welcome. He added:
"We are now living under fortunate conditions of international peace, in the preservation of which Italy, as well as England, has become herself a willing and active factor. I trust the two nations always will proceed united on the path of progress and civilization. With these feelings, I raise my glass to you, Mr. Lord Mayor, and the distinguished representatives of the City of London."

At the conclusion of Oxford University today the degree of Doctor of Civil Law was by diploma conferred on King Victor Emmanuel.

Shortly after the return to Windsor
of the royal personages, the Italian Foreign Minister, Signor Tittoni, had a conference with Lord Lansdowne,
the British Minister of Foreign Affairs,
and was later granted an audience by King Edward.

The British and Italian sovereigns dined together tonight in the Oak Room of the Castle, and afterward were presented at a performance of "David Garrick" in the Waterloo Chamber. The guests included Henry White, secretary of the United States Embassy; Mrs. White and the Messrs. White and the Countess of Aberdeen.

After the dinner, King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena, accompanied by the Lord Mayor, the British Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the Countess of Aberdeen, proceeded to the splendid hospi-talities of the British government, and the near future is likely to witness striking developments in Central Asia. Curzon is opposed to the extension of Russian power in the direction of British India, and is said to be urging an aggressive policy. His recent communications to the India office contain grave language about gathering clouds in the region of the Himalayas.

Col. Younghusband's column, which is advancing through Chumbi Valley, shines with what sincerely the Viceroy speaks. Lord Curzon contends that Thibet lies much more naturally within the British than within the Russian sphere, and that the Casar's government should not be permitted to act as if the contrary were the case. Students of the situation anxiously await the utterance of Russia, both as to the Younghusband expedition and to the spectacular progress of Lord Curzon
and his suite along the Persian Gulf.

Gardner Orders John Bright
to Mortgage Their Stable.

Wants to Take Fitzsimmons' Offer of Two to One.

Mayor vs. Governor—Muddy
Oakland Surprises—Derby
Gold Cup—Race.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Nov. 19.—[Ex-clusive Dispatch.] George Gardner will go into his fight with Robert Fitzsimmons in San Francisco next Wednesday night for the light heavyweight championship of the world with practically every cent he can scrape together staked on himself. The incident is the Lowell man's ability to put the ex-champion away that he has ordered John Bright, his partner and trainer in the racing game, to mortgage their stable, if necessary, to cover all 2-to-1 bets.

"Mortgage your horse and cover any 2-to-1 bet offered you," Gardner writes to Bright. "I don't think I can lose."

The letter giving these instructions was received by Bright today. In it Gardner says he is ten pounds heavier than he ever was, and his friends in San Francisco are taking all the 2-to-1 bets on him.

"If Fitz beats me," adds Gardner, "he will be a peach."

Gardner's letter to Bright has sent the racing world into a state of excitement. The local and visiting sportsmen could see nothing but Fitzsimmons. As soon as the contents of the letter became known about the fight, it was a hard-headed proposition like Gardner was willing to stake his all on the result of the battle there was "something doing," and today there was a general rush to take all 2-to-1 money offered on "Lanky Bob."

FITZ-GARDNER FIGHT.
The Fitzsimmons-Gardner fight that will take place in San Francisco next Tuesday is attracting a great amount of attention from Los Angeles sportsmen, and from all accounts a good sized crowd is expected to see the fight. The local sportsmen are taking all the 2-to-1 bets on him.

At present Fitz is a 2 to 1 favorite in the local betting that has been done, and quite a sum of money has been wagered. Eddie Greaney will referee.

MAYOR VS. GOVERNOR.
[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.] FINDLAY (O.) Nov. 19.—Proceeding Attorney General today instructed the grand jury to return a verdict against Governor McCall.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.
Manager J. W. Brooks of the Los Angeles Jockey Club returned yesterday from San Francisco, having given the local sportsmen a good impression on the visiting horsemen. Continuous rain has made the track deep and sticky, and the local sportsmen are taking all the 2-to-1 bets on him.

NEVADA'S OPPORTUNITY.
WASHINGTON UP (Tenn.) Nov. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Nevada football team, which is to play the University of Washington tomorrow, is in excellent condition, but has little to say. Coach Stecke having told them that, as they represented a small college, it was not fitting that they should speak of victories over big institutions. The chances are about 2 to 1 in favor of Nevada tonight.

back on the ground that they have conditions hanging over them. It is the Cole case that the students are in arms about. Cole lives in this State. He will want to go to Cornell, where he made one of the university team. Typhoid fever knocked him out. On recovery he entered the University of Washington (last spring), and was registered wrong. This year he was registered proper, and he has maintained a proper standard, but the faculty committee sprang a surprise at the eleventh hour, knocking him out of the game.

Scherer, who played center last year, will take Schuster's place, but he is in practice. The halves will be shifted around, Bagshaw and Strauss taking the halves and McElmorn going to the full-back. Coach Knight says Washington's chances of scoring have been discounted 25 per cent.

It is raining, and the ground will be slippery for that which would be a Washington, despite contrary reports.

It was the same old, old story yesterday of hearts that ache and burn and of a game that was a struggle to be looking in the keyhole but never opening the door.

Some of the fans seem to think that the Portland players are all un-labor people and are not capable of coming to terms with this. There might be something in this, for they have endeavored several times this week to arbitrate the question of a lock-out with Manager Morley's various pitchers, but nothing has happened. Up to the present time it has been a case of hoping what reputation you could from the other fellows.

The visitors played a bad game yesterday. He was a general error, and he could never hope to win with such performances. As the Loos took every advantage of the mistakes, the visitors had nothing to do but wait for the curtain.

WRETCHED TRAGEDY AT ARCADE DEPOT.

Henry C. Roemer of Downey Shoots His Wife and Kills Himself.

Two Little Daughters Witness Slaughter on the Pavement—Husband Crazed by Drink and Jealousy Ends All With Gun—Paroled San Quentin Convict Charged With Wrecking His Brother's Home.

A gory tragedy was enacted on the pavement beside the big palm at the crowded Arcade depot at 5:25 o'clock last evening. Henry C. Roemer of Downey, crazed by drink and jealousy, shot his wife twice and then killed himself. Their two little daughters stood crying through it all. Mrs. Roemer will probably recover. Frank Roemer, a younger brother of the dead man and a convicted murderer out of State prison on parole, is charged with wrecking the home and causing the tragedy. Mrs. Roemer was living at the home of her father, H. L. Miller of No. 829 West Ninth street, to get protection from intolerable mistreatment at the hands of her drunken husband. The husband came on the same train with her from Downey. When she attempted to shake him off at the depot exit he shot her. Mrs. Roemer, her father and sister, praise the dead man, laying all his faults to liquor. The father exclaims the brother, Frank, but the woman says there was no justification for her husband's jealousy. Mrs. Roemer was for some time an inmate of the Highland Insane Asylum, having been released six months ago as cured. Henry C. Roemer was widely known in this county, having lived in Downey fifteen years. He was formerly constable there, but was removed from office on conviction of having conducted a "blind pig" liquor establishment. A few months ago he established a barber shop in the Downey Hotel. Roemer was a man of much popularity, but known as a terror when drunk. Roemer was 26 years old, and his wife 23. Their two little girls, who saw the shooting, are Fern and Lucille, aged 6 and 4 years, respectively.

Mrs. Roemer, a tall, slender young woman, her comely face drawn with intense worry, rushed along in the town-bound crowd out of the big front door of the Arcade depot. She had a telescope in one hand and two small valises in the other, while two sweet little girls clung to her skirts. As the trio stepped off the sidewalk into the asphalt road, Henry Roemer, a handsome fellow, strode up and, placing himself directly in front of the woman, began talking and expostulating vehemently. His face was set with a terrible determination, his eyes flashed with an unnatural fire, and his whole bearing was one of monomaniacal anger. He barred the woman's progress, leaning over with his face close to hers and swinging his right arm up and down to enforce his argument. The woman was pale as death. She spoke but few words, shaking her head back and forth slowly. She started to pass by him to the right, but he stepped over in her way. Back on the sidewalk stood two young women, friends who had come on the same train from Downey. They were waiting for her, as she had asked them to accompany her to her father's home, she feared molestation from her husband. Mrs. Roemer turned to ask them to go with her to the Tracy Hotel, but a few steps across the court. Her husband took hold of her shoulders and restrained her from going any distance. The little girls contracted the mother's fear and commenced to fret and whimper. Mrs. Roemer turned to ask them to go with her to the Tracy Hotel, but a few steps across the court. HENRY C. ROEMER

Receiving Hospital in the patrol wagon, where the physicians ministered to her wounds. Her father and younger sister, Miss Helen Miller, visited her after the preliminary treatment, and at her brother's house until Henry was taken to the hospital at 8 o'clock. She bore the treatment with the utmost fortitude. The physicians believe she will surely recover, unless complications set in. Roemer's body was taken to Breese Brothers' morgue, where an inquest will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

SAD FAMILY TROUBLE.

There is an intensely sad story of domestic woe behind the tragedy. The drink demon plays the star part in all the trouble. During the past year another man entered which made her matters worse. The most shocking part of it is that this other man is the dead husband's own brother.

He is Frank Roemer, a younger man. He may go back to San Quentin penitentiary as an incident of the tragic affair. He kept studiously out of the way after the shooting last night. If he had met the girl's father there might have been another Roemer at the morgue.

Miller, the girl's father, declared last night with set teeth that this brother, Frank, was the cause of it all. He is said to have forced his attentions on his brother's wife until Henry was just about crazy with jealousy. The husband's besetting weakness was his appetite for drink, and with his family trouble he plunged deeper in his cups. For the past few months the dead man had drunk to excess continually, and he was drunk when he fired the fatal shots.

This Frank Roemer killed a man named "Mon" Uttery in Downey about

WIFE WAS NERVOUS.

It was a pathetic and bloody scene. Roemer lay sprawled out, a corpse, with the gun clutched firmly in his hand, and a shocking scowl on his green face. Eight feet away Mrs. Roemer was writhing and groaning in perfect consciousness. Most pathetic of all were the little witnesses made orphans by the deed of blood. They fell to their knees beside their prostrate mother and stretched their arms across her breast, moaning with anguish. Her face was a mass of blood and it had trickled down through her hair and formed a little pool on the pavement.

Tender hands dragged the little ones away, and lifted the wounded woman. Patrolmen H. Banks and R. L. Allen, and Special Officer Markham were among the first on the spot. The children were taken away, and the ambulance and the patrol wagon summoned.

Mrs. Roemer gave a remarkable exhibition of womanly character, for she was as cool as could be. With support she walked into the waiting-room, and bore the physical and mental anguish calmly. She had sufficient presence of mind to give the name and address of her father, H. L. Miller, No. 829 West Ninth street, and he hastened to the depot and took charge of the weeping little girls.

Mrs. Roemer was rushed to the Re-four years ago, and got a long term in San Quentin about a year ago. Gov. Gage gave the murderer a parole, which is liberation from prison with certain restrictions, and the provision for the convict's return to serve out his sentence for any bad behavior. When freed Frank immediately came south, and worked intermittently in Los Angeles for months.

Serious trouble in the Henry Roemer household dated from Frank's return from prison. The husband held the place of constable, and had a wide popularity. He made the mistake of attempting to sell liquor in a temperance town, and on conviction of running a "blind pig" he lost his office. He was highly respected by his friends and dearly loved by his wife when sober, but the taste of drink put the demons in him, and his libations took him into many a fracas.

An drink apparently made her husband a maniac, the trouble of it all must have affected the wife's reason, for on his complaint she was adjudged insane and committed to Highland asylum. After a few months she was discharged as cured, and returned to the family home at Downey six months ago. Two months ago Frank went to work as a railroad section hand in the vicinity of Downey, and he remained in his brother's household. His attentions to the woman may or may not have been more pronounced than domestic unhappiness was intensified. Henry was insanely jealous of his brother, and is said to have scarcely drawn a sober breath during the two months. In turn he made life a horror for his wife, with accusations and abuse.

THIS FATAL TRIP.

During the last week the quarrelling between Roemer and his wife has been continuous. Yesterday Mrs. Roemer determined she could bear the wear and tear no longer. In her desperation she decided to take counsel of her father in this city. She took a few necessary belongings into three grips and boarded the afternoon train for Los Angeles. Her husband, who was in the train, followed her, but he followed her on the train. All the way to Los Angeles he is said to have muttered and mumbled, but he followed. Then she sought protection by telling with a young woman of Downey whom she knew, but her husband turned a seat in front and planked himself down facing her. His friends, Mrs. Roemer confided her fear of bodily harm at the hands of her husband, who, she said, was in a desperate mood and drunk.

WOUNDED WIFE'S STATEMENT.

To her father and sister at the Receiving Hospital last night Mrs. Roemer spoke briefly of the trouble and tragedy. She was calm and steady. "It's only drink," she said. "Harry was a fine man when sober, but he had terrible fits when he was drinking he couldn't control it."

"We had quarrelled so much the past week that I just became unbearable, and I wanted to get away and get father's advice what to do. Coming up on the train I met him, and when we got out of the depot I asked him not to go out with me, and that made him mad. I wanted to get away from him, and he grabbed me by the shoulder and shot me."

H. L. Miller, the father, is well known here. He is proprietor of a cloak and suit house at No. 508 South Broadway, and his wife's family lives at No. 829 West Ninth street.

"The brother is the cause of it all," he said. "Harry was a good fellow when he was sober, but he was drunk when he left down alone."

At 1 o'clock this morning Mrs. Roemer was reported resting easy at the Tracy Hotel.

DR. RODGER'S LECTURE.

Exponent of Religious-Scientific Thought Presents Sixth of Series of Addresses at Immanuel Church.

At Immanuel Presbyterian Church, last evening, Prof. J. G. Rodger of the Washington University Union gave the fifth of a series of lectures known as "The Religious-Scientific Institute."

Dr. Rodger has been delivering these discourses at various churches during the week, and has aroused marked interest among thinking men and women of various denominations. The thought of his talks has been to promote the study of science and its connection with religious problems. Dr. Rodger believes that the phases of religious life may be demonstrated scientifically, and that all events, both spiritual and physical, are but the intentional manifestations of the great ultimate cause.

Dr. Rodger's subject last night was "Is Faith Reasonable?" He argued that all things, as the scriptures say, "Work together for good," and in every event and its sequential happenings one can see the purposes of an all-wise God. He said that the future as it only could be shaped through these events.

The object of these lectures, which

DR. RODGER'S LECTURE.

Dr. Rodger is delivering throughout the West, to create interest enough in such matters to promote the founding of a chair for scientific-religious instruction in a number of the important colleges of the country. The Los Angeles University Union has been organized with the following officers: Chairman, R. C. Powers; secretary, Mrs. Laura A. Bettenger; treasurer, C. F. Fierce. The work of this branch, as outlined by its officers, will be to assist in establishing a "California's Chair of Christian Evidence from the Scientific Standpoint."

UNION INTIMIDATION STOPPED BY COURT.

STRIKE OF ARIZONA MINERS VIRTUALLY ENDED.

Permanent Injunction Against Conspiracy and Threatening Organized Gangs Who Would Prevent Operation, Too Stubborn to Submit to Arbitration.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES)

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 18.—For many months the mining industry of Yavapai county has been seriously crippled by a more or less general strike that grew out of a demand of the miners' unions for ten hours' pay for eight hours' work. The miners stubbornly maintained their attitude, despite all attempts at compromise or arbitration, and at last, in a number of instances, their membership resorted to force and intimidation. A temporary injunction was issued against them in the local district court, and yesterday this injunction was made permanent. The cause thus decided was entitled: "Poland Mining Company, Oriental Mining Company, Gold and Copper Consolidated Mining Company, J. B. Tomlinson, Cash Mines Company, Catechin Gold Mining Company, Monrovia Consolidated Mining Company, White Horse Mining Company, Verde Chief Mining Company, the Penn Gold Mining Company, Pan-American Mining Company, Standard Smelting and Refining Company, R. L. Spencer, H. W. Douglas, J. R. Ruggles and F. Lacey, doing business as a partnership under the name of Douglas, Lacey & Co., J. S. Carmichael, Golden Gate Mining Company and Poland Extension Gold Mining and Milling Company, plaintiffs, vs. Yavapai District Union of the Western Federation of Miners, McCabe Miners' Union, No. 118, of the Western Federation of Miners; Walker Miners' Union, No. 14, of the Western Federation of Miners; Groom Creek Union, No. 14, of the Western Federation of Miners; Alfalfa Union, No. 14, of the Western Federation of Miners; F. P. Starr, S. D. Murray, W. M. Moor, John Larson, Tom Caldwell, James O'Connell, R. E. Korman, Roy O. Jones, Henry Ritta, Pat Sullivan, John Rusk, E. T. Donnelly, James McLaughlin and Tom Connor, defendants."

Judge Sloan found that the unions had conspired and confederated by the use of force, threats and intimidation, to prevent plaintiffs from operating their mines and that certain acts of violence were committed by the unions and their officers. The McCabe Miners' Union is also adjudged guilty of coercion and intimidation in having published one Pat O'Donnell as a "scab" in the official organ of the Western Federation of Miners.

Nearly all the mines affected are resuming work, with practically full forces, and the great miners' strike may be said to be at an end.

The Labor Monopoly.

The movement which has been started in the Kansas City, Mo., by the Association, to build a school near this city for the training of young men in the skilled trades, calls attention to certain injurious conditions in the country that have been brought about by the monopolistic spirit of the labor unions.

Practically all the labor unions narrowly restrict the number of apprentices that may be employed by a master workman in a union shop, most of them also require that apprentices shall begin work at an early age, usually under eighteen years. The unions in a very large measure control the skilled employment. The result of these apprenticeship regulations is, therefore, to limit the number of men in these trades. The effect of these restrictions is not seriously felt in any quarter in dull times when the number of workmen in most other lines exceeds the number of men in the trades or exceeds it in most of the skilled trades. But when such times come they make it practically impossible for employers in any line to get as many skilled workmen as they need. This is the situation in nearly all parts of the United States now. Except in the steel industry, there is work for every unskilled workman in the country and for thousands more skilled workmen than are available. Add to this the fact that strikes are of daily occurrence, and it is not hard to see how the labor monopoly in the midst of prosperity building and manufacturing operations are in a smaller or a greater degree suffering, and employers are paying and offering wages which in any country but America would be considered as fair incomes for successful professional and business men.

The situation, temporarily at least, is good for the skilled laborer. He has no doubt, but it is bad for employers, it works a grave injustice to many unskilled workmen, and it is serious to the country. It is bad for employers because it disables them from turning out as much of their particular product as they could turn out or transacting as large a business as they could do if they could get plenty of skilled help. It indirectly hurts unskilled workmen because many of them who would have become skilled workmen but for the monopolistic apprenticeship rules, are, because of those rules, condemned to receive only the wages of unskilled labor. And it injures the country by preventing it from advancing as fast in the path of progress as it might have done if it otherwise would advance. In the long run their narrow rules will also react severely upon the members of the unions themselves. The industrial collapse from which England is suffering is due very largely to the absurd and tyrannical industrial caste system which the rules of her trades unions have built up.—(Kansas City Journal.)

A Question of Ethics.

"I had a chance to ride four miles to other day," said Pledging Pete. "Why didn't you do it?" asked Alexander Mike.

"He man wanted me to hold a horse for him while he stepped at a couple of places, but I was afraid dat would be regarded as working."—(Washington Evening Star.)

FINANCE AND TRADE.

PRICE 3 CENTS.

SALT PRICES CUT IN TWO.

Trust Wields Big Knife in the Bitter War.

Severe Losses for Retailers With Large Stocks.

San Pedro Salt Company is Just Getting Supply to the Local Market.

Blanching of prices still continues in the salt war waged in Southern California, and yesterday a tremendous reduction was made in dairy and table salts by the New Liverpool Salt Company, otherwise known in these parts as the "trust."

For these grades of salt the jobbing price was cut in two. It is a significant coincidence that these prices were reduced just at the time when the "trust's" bitterest rival, the San Pedro Salt Company, had begun to offer table and dairy salt to the trade. Only a day or so ago did this new concern begin to offer these grades. The same sort of thing happened on September 16, when the "trust" cut the prices on hide salt separately in two, for it was most significant about that date that the San Pedro Company entered the market with hide salt. Since that time the necessary machinery has been installed to furnish a table and dairy article, which the San Pedro people are now offering.

But up to the very last moment the "trust" clung to its lofty price, and at those figures has been unloading all the stock it could upon a wary, ready retailer who has trusted their jobbers for the salt situation and loaded up heavily the last few weeks with salt. The result is that the "trust" has been unable to get its salt to the retailers, and the latter are now being forced to turn to the San Pedro Company for their supply. The salt situation is no less bitter than it is in and around San Francisco.

To show the enormous prices obtained by the "trust" for its products in this section for many months prior to a declaration of war last September, the following interesting table of jobbers' prices has been prepared:

	Table salt, 25-lb. bags.	Table salt, 50-lb. bags.	Table salt, 100-lb. bags.
Hide salt, 25-lb. bags.	12.00	11.00	10.00
Hide salt, 50-lb. bags.	11.00	10.00	9.00
Hide salt, 100-lb. bags.	10.00	9.00	8.00
Dairy salt, 25-lb. bags.	11.00	10.00	9.00
Dairy salt, 50-lb. bags.	10.00	9.00	8.00
Dairy salt, 100-lb. bags.	9.00	8.00	7.00
Table salt, 25-lb. bags.	10.00	9.00	8.00

The new quotations carry with them the concession of a 5 per cent. trade discount in carload lots, and car lots are taken from the cards put out by the Wholesale Grocers' Association, and it is claimed by that organization that its list prices have been strenuously maintained by the "trust" upon its quality.

The jobbing prices compared above are taken from the cards put out by the Wholesale Grocers' Association, and it is claimed by that organization that its list prices have been strenuously maintained by the "trust" upon its quality.

Speaking of the cause of the heavy reduction in prices by the jobbers yesterday, A. M. Rawson, secretary of the Wholesale Grocers' Association, said: "We understand that the cause of the reduction is the immense stock of salt on hand in San Francisco, which has made the New Liverpool Salt Company afraid of the northern output. I am told that there are in San Francisco 25,000 tons more than can be used in the next year or two, and without further production. Therefore, the New Liverpool Salt Company must protect itself by reducing its prices to keep out the northern product. High prices in Los Angeles might attract salt from San Francisco, where salt is very, very cheap. The smaller concerns of the north must unload for the best price they can get."

"Has local competition anything to do with today's big slash in prices, Mr. Rawson?" asked a Times reporter.

"Nothing whatever," was the positive reply. Mr. Rawson's explanation is supported by representatives of the San Pedro Salt Company.

CAPT. MCKINSTRY HERE.

Detained to Relieve Maj. Willard, in Charge of United States Engineer's Office and Harbor Work.

Capt. C. H. McKinstry, Engineer Corps, U.S.A., the officer detailed to relieve Maj. J. H. Willard, in charge of the United States Engineer's Office in this city, arrived yesterday morning with his wife from Washington, D. C.

Capt. McKinstry called on Maj. Willard at local headquarters during the day and will leave for San Francisco tomorrow morning to inspect the government harbor work there, of which he has supervision when he assumes his duties.

The newly-arrived officer is a comparatively young man, and is anxious to personally inspect the situation at the earliest possible moment. He will probably take charge of the local office some time next week. The captain and his wife are making their headquarters for the present at the Van Nuys.

Maj. Willard will be stationed at Newport, R. I.
